

M&O Faculty Research Areas of Interest

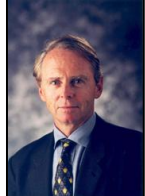

August 2009

(Click on faculty name to visit their Ross profile.)

Susan Ashford	Leadership and personal effectiveness, voice and issue selling, self-management practice (feedback seeking, Proactivity) and nonstandard work.
Wayne Baker	Values, social capital, organizations and networks, economic sociology, culture. See www.waynebaker.org
Kim Cameron	Positive Organizational Scholarship, organizational effectiveness, downsizing, management skills, diagnosing and changing organizational culture. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/cameronk
Gerald Davis	Corporate governance, organizational theory, financial globalization, social networks, social movements, influence of politics and social networks on corporate governance. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/gfdavis
Scott DeRue	Leadership, leader and team development, learning from experience, team leadership, team learning and adaptation, and team performance. See www.scottderue.com
Jane Dutton	Positive Organizational Scholarship, high quality connections and relationships at work, compassion and organizations, positive self-narratives, thriving at work, and issue selling. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/janedut
Andrew Hoffman	Nature and dynamics of change within institutional and cultural systems. He applies that research toward understanding the cultural and managerial implications of environmental protection and social sustainability for industry. See www.andrewhoffman.net

Shirli Kopelman	Strategic display and response to emotions in social relationships, global resource management negotiations, factors promoting cooperation in interdependent intra- and inter-organizational contexts, negotiation strategy, cross-cultural conflict management and resolution. See www.shirlikopelman.com
Fiona Lee	How complex events are understood and communicated within organizations, and how these interpretations affect working relationships, risk-taking, learning, impressions and performance.
David Mayer	Behavioral ethics, organizational justice, prosocial behavior, workplace diversity, social issues in organizations.
Robert Quinn	Positive Organizational Scholarship, leadership, organizational change, organizational culture, high performance patterns. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/requinn/website
Jeffrey Sanchez-Burks	How cultural variation in thought and action contributes to the success or failure of global business transactions. The consequences of being able to effectively assess and react to emotional patterns in groups. Emotionally wise crowds. How a recombinant mindset contributes to innovation and creativity. See www.jeffreysanchezburks.com
Lloyd Sandelands	Determinants and dynamics of social organization. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/lsandel
Gretchen Spreitzer	Positive Organizational Scholarship, thriving at work, empowerment, leading organizational and personal change. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/spreitze

Kathleen Sutcliffe	Organizing for resilience and reliability, capabilities for sensing emerging problems and coping with uncertainty, cognitive and experiential diversity in top management teams, and team and organizational learning.
Maxim Sytch	Organization theory, economic sociology, social structure of markets, origins of interorganizational networks, influence of networks of collaboration and conflict on organizations' behavior and outcomes, complex systems. See webuser.bus.umich.edu/msytch
Noel Tichy	Global Leadership.
Jim Walsh	The purpose, accountability, and control of the firm – and business – in society. See www.jamespwalsh.com
Karl Weick	Collective sensemaking under pressure, medical errors, handoffs in extreme events, high-reliability performance, improvisation and continuous change.
Janet Weiss	Public management and public policy, challenges of public management and the interplay between policy design and the management of public programs, nonprofit management.
Lynn Wooten	How changes in workforce demographics and the knowledge economy influence the implementation of strategic human resource management practices. In addition, she examines how these human resource management practices affect the performance of organizations and employee-related outcomes.	