

Announcing the Second Biannual Gallup Leadership Institute Summit

October 7th - 9th, 2006
Washington, D.C.
Gallup World Headquarters

“A Global Look at Accelerating Positive Forms of Leadership Development.”

Summit Focus

The Gallup Leadership Institute (GLI), The Gallup Organization and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln are pleased to host our second leadership summit focusing on the acceleration of positive forms of leadership development.

Summit Objective

We are convening to produce original views and ground-breaking insights for future theory, research and practice to learn what accelerates positive leadership development at all levels of organizations and all types of individuals, groups and cultures.

Accelerating Leadership Development By:

- Using technology
- Using validated models
- Starting with positive versus deficit models
- Using “micro”-interventions
- Assessing developmental readiness
- Deepening self awareness
- Aligning leadership and culture
- Leveraging social networks

Format for the Summit:

- Roundtable discussions on the future of leadership development
- Affinity groups formed with facilitated discussion on accelerating leader development
- Keynote speakers from the public and private sector
- Town Hall type meetings
- Panel discussions
- Café style round table dialogues
- “Scheduled” and “unscheduled” hallway dialogues

Special Presentation of the First Award for the Clifton Prize for Strengths-Based Leadership — Amount $250,000

Publication Outlets

Several potential outlets for scholarship and practice articles resulting from the Summit will be announced shortly.
