During March 2001, The Fund outperformed the S&P Midcap Index by 177 basis points. The outperformance resulted from three factors. First and most importantly, our active holdings held up very well during the broader market decline that took place during the month (about 110 basis points). Second, we received a $325 reimbursement relating to previous brokerage charges (about 30 basis points). Third, our 4% cash holdings enabled us to ‘time’ the benchmark (about 30 basis points).
